U. S. Naval Aviation Practically Born at Massachusetts, "I. T."

BOSTON, May 29.—Naval aviation in the United States practically had its birth at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

In an interview President MacLaurin explained how he, through the M. I. T., induced the navy to take an interest in aeronautics.

Technology early secured the future need of aerodynamic engineers, men who, having been educated in the principles, could undertake the development and construction of all great hydroplanes, he said.

It was in March, 1912, that I had a conversation with the secretary of the navy to discuss whether it might not be possible to have something in the way of the study of aerodynamics by the naval officers.

At my suggestion, Capt. James C. Hunsaker, who, although a graduate, was doing special work of the institute, was detailed to the navy to visit the various centers of aviation and laboratory in Europe, and returning home became an instructor in the new courses which technology instituted in 1914.

GENERAL STRIKE CALLED IN TORONTO FOR TODAY

TORONTO, May 29.—A general strike in sympathy with the metal workers will go into effect in this city at 10 o'clock this morning.

The final call for the walkout came shortly after midnight when the central strike committee of 15 declined the offer of the employers in the metal trades to arbitrate the question of a 45-hour week.

Winnipeg, May 29.—Winnipeg's strike may be settled by Monday, it was believed here today when the metal trades employers accepted an offer of the Railway Trainmen's union to act as mediators on the collective bargaining issue.

Old Lady. "My boy, is it your father who writes so many smart sayings of children?"

Small boy. "Yes, ma'am."

"I suppose he encourages you to talk?"

"No, ma'am. He threatens to thrash me if I even should whisper when he is writing his smart things the children have said."

NO ACTION IS TAKEN YET ON LAMAR MOB

Presenter Says He Will Push Case If He Can Find Clue to Guilty Ones.

—Says Some Recognized.

LAMAR, Mo., May 29.—Whether there will be any effort to identify and bring to punishment members of the mob which hanged Jay Barker, confessed killer of Sheriff John Harlow and Harlow's son here on March 1 last, was a question of much speculation today.

Local authorities are in a quandary as to what to do. The mob, which was captured in the town of Lamar, Mo., on March 1 last, was a mob of about 100 men, many of whom were armed with firearms.

It was said by the authorities today that the mob, which hanged Barker, may have attempted to kill the sheriff, but that they were not successful. The mob was captured in the town of Lamar, Mo., on March 1 last.

The New Studebaker LIGHT-SIX

Beautiful in Design — Thoroughly Modern — Mechanically Right

The quality of this car is apparent in its beautiful lines and perfected mechanism; and the little details show it, too. Notice:

- the fine, hand-applied finish (24 operations)
- the "Sheridized" (non-rustable) bright parts
- the accurately fitted, smooth-closing doors
- the simple, convenient device for holding doors ajar
- the good hardware throughout
- the combination robe-and-hand rail
- the "two-range" gearbox—a wonderful saver of gasoline and help to power and speed
- the carefully worked-out, comfortable seat positions
- the French-plated upholstery, soft and deep
- the real foot rest in the tonneau
- the quality of the accessories
- the neat, protected speedometer-drive
- the oil cups instead of grease cups throughout
- the accessibility of all parts

It is little details like these that prove a car, and show the sincerity of its makers.

DEAR FOLKS:

THE oftener I come in personal contact with the workers in the Wilson & Co. organization, the greater is my conviction that Mr. Wilson by gaining their loyalty and confidence has created the greatest asset that his business possesses.

Let me tell you how the workers plan to make the work of Mr. Wilson and that of his associates in the official family easier, and to leave them free to handle the big problems which come up before them every working day.

They have organized a COMMITTEE OF 32, consisting of men and women members, who are elected to membership by vote of their associates in the several departments of the business.

Every member of the committee receives from his or her associates suggestions that bear on improving conditions in the plant, and then in committee meetings, which are held frequently, these suggestions are discussed frankly, and if by majority vote it is decided to make recommendations to the official family—it is done, there being present at all meetings, a very able woman secretary who transcribes in concrete form, the recommendations made.

Here is a case of workers selecting men and women from their own ranks to represent them in all important matters affecting their interests—and the members of the Committee of 32 have the complete confidence of their associates. Whatever the committee votes to do is always satisfactory to the workers in all departments.

I was privileged to be present at one of the meetings of the Committee of 32. I heard both men and women stand on their feet and talk straight from the shoulder. There was no misunderstanding what they said. They knew what they wanted to say and they said it. They voted to make some recommendations to the officials.

Then they invited me to talk to them, which I was glad to do because I believe thoroughly in the idea that all problems and difficulties in business can be settled by the workers themselves if they will honestly and sincerely co-operate with one another and state their case frankly to the heads of the business.

After I had finished talking the Committee of 32, by unanimous vote, elected me an honorary member—an honor that I prize very highly.

What was the result of all this, so far as the business of Wilson & Co. is concerned?

The first result—and the most important of all—is that the Committee of 32 succeeds in maintaining a splendid relationship between the workers and the officials. Mutual confidence and respect prevails continuously.

The second result—also very important—is that the speedy adoption by the officials of the recommendations made by the Committee of 32, puts the members on their honor and they make only such recommendations as are important. Trial and error never gets a majority vote in the Committee meetings.

The third result—also very important—is that the members of the Committee of 32 are more often concerned about making recommendations designed to benefit the business as a whole than they are about having something done to benefit themselves.

The Committee has brought about a condition of affairs which means contentment on the part of the associate workers and this, of course, makes them more efficient and more keen to serve the company honestly.

At the Committee meeting I attended one man had a good deal to say about the splendid work of the men in the Ham and Bacon departments—telling his associate members of their pride in producing the Certified Wilson Brands—and suggesting that every worker in every other department should make it a matter of personal honor to set in the preparation of food products that will always insure the use of the slogan "The Wilson Label Protects Your Taste."

A woman representing the Central Canning Department, told the Ham and Bacon men that she had her associate workers were proud of their achievement in producing Certified Wilson Brands, and that she asked the workers were producing Certified Brands of Canned Meats, Vegetables, Fruits, and Delicacies, etc.

So it goes. Workers are kept in the work department to produce the finest and purest Food Products, and they are just as proud of the Wilson & Co. slogan "The Wilson Label Protects Your Taste" as Mr. Wilson is—and that means being satisfied.
